

Cross Curricular Links

The challenge for EAL students is in learning English at the same time as they are learning through the medium of English and so throughout the Common Assessment and Orientation Programme there is explicit reference to language development in the context of the whole curriculum. EAL specialist teachers in the school will therefore need to work closely with colleagues from different subject departments, as appropriate, when planning and delivering this programme. See pages 10 and 11 for an outline of the programme with cross-curricular links.
