Subject: Rotherham Area Assemblies

Just saw that Rotherham is now out of special measures after 4 years. I still think we have more to learn from their process of rebuilding trust and increasing public participation.

Attached is information on their Area Assemblies of interest to us may be Page 13 on - the ToRs and how they use Task and Finish Groups at the Area level. Especially if we are discussing and considering increasing CLLL funding and using these funds in a more meaningful way.

I am not proposing introducing and inflicting 3 ward Area Boards across the borough but think we should be considering piloting these where natural links and shared circumstances and issues allow and local residents want - e.g. NE and NW Kensington, and here the Rotherham model will be helpful.
