

PLANNING APPLICATION PUBLIC COMMENT

Application number: PP/17/07888
Site Address: 132B Fulham Road, LONDON, SW3 6HX
Proposal: Demolition of dwelling house and erection of a two storey 2-bedroom detached house with subterranean development

Comment received: I object strongly to the application for building extremely modern property with heavy intrusive glazing in a conservation area which should be protecting the setting for the 19th Century property contained therein.

Actually it will be in plain sight from homes which overlook in Elm Place, the apartment block opposite in Fulham Road and Cranley Gardens, some of them listed, as well as Fulham Road, not forgetting thousands of upper floor bus passengers which view down on the site from the bus stop opposite. The materials used for construction are obviously out of keeping and will offend the eye.

The basement looks enormous and seems to come extremely close to the footings of both neighbouring buildings, and one of these is Georgian while the other is extremely substantial and of the Victorian or Edwardian era with many apartments. How can RBKC explain why so many residents will have extreme dust and noise pollution for nearly two years just for the replacement of one perfectly suitable house with a much less attractive one?

The small door way which seems to be the only access to the land might explain the unacceptably long building programme, while residents and businesses and local hospitals will suffer the traffic build up which will occur from deliveries and skips opposite the bus stop near a busy intersection.
