

A detailed map of the Kensington and Chelsea area in London. The map shows a dense network of roads represented by grey lines and green spaces represented by light green areas. Five blue circular markers indicate the locations of BTEX Diffusion Tubes, each labeled with a code: KC01, KC02, KC03, KC04, and KC05. An orange line with cross-ticks represents the railway route running through the area. A legend in the bottom left corner identifies these symbols: a blue circle for 'BTEX Diffusion Tubes', an orange line with cross-ticks for 'Railway', and a grey line for 'Roads'. The title 'KENSINGTON AND CHELSEA' is displayed in large, dark blue capital letters at the top right.
