

Example of contractor not following existing traffic management plan

The picture below gives an example of a contractor not following the existing traffic management plan. The traffic management plan states the collections and deliveries will only take place between 9.30am and 3.00pm.

Picture was taken at 8.45 am on Wednesday 28 August.

The intention is to show that the existence of TMPs in themselves does not solve the problem of controlling deliveries and collections from basement and other construction sites. The intention is not to highlight one contractor for one instance of non-compliance.
