

Nick Langdon

Civil and Environmental Engineer

Current Position – Director, Company Chairman of Card Geotechnics Limited

Qualifications - MSc DIC CEng CEnv FICE FGS

Key Info

- Over thirty years' experience in geotechnical consultancy, research and education whilst employed by a number of major international consultants and the University of Portsmouth.
- Lectured on a variety of geotechnical and contaminated land degree, postgraduate and CPD courses at the University of Portsmouth.

Key Experience

- Instructed as an Expert Witness on ten occasions; nine have been successfully settled satisfactorily and to the benefit of the instructing parties and one remains in discussion.
- Instigator, founder member and Hon. Sec. Southern Geotechnical Group of ICE Southern Association (1991 to 1996). Responsible for technical and financial management of major projects and business administration and development.
- Main areas of technical involvement include investigation and geotechnical/geo-environmental design of sites for commercial, industrial and residential developments.
- Project director for a large number of geotechnical and geo-environmental investigation for major commercial structures and residential blocks in South East of England. These include assessment of major basement construction, pile foundations earthworks and the remediation of contaminated sites.
- Former Principle Lecturer at the Department of Civil Engineering, University of Portsmouth.

Presentations - Papers

- Co-Author: Contaminated Land – ICE design and practice guide 2nd Edition Thomas Telford 2007
- Author of eighteen papers in Geotechnics .
- Peer Reviewer for conference papers and journals.